ALUMNI ADMISSION MENTOR PROGRAM (AAMP)

The graduates listed in this book have all volunteered to speak with students who are thinking about attending St. George's University School of Medicine. All were once in the position of attempting to judge the quality of medical education outside of the United States in the face of a dearth of information on non-US medical schools. These physicians attended St. George's University, graduated, or transferred to a US medical school, and are now practicing physicians. They know the uncertainties you are facing now, and can speak with you about the St. George's University educational experience, including the clinical programs in the United States and United Kingdom, the faculty, life in Grenada, examinations, and the process of becoming licensed in a given state or country.

Also visit sgu.edu/residencies for a listing of the postgraduate residency positions obtained by our graduates. SGU is the #1 international provider of physicians practicing in the United States—more than any other non-US medical school in the world.* Our graduates have practiced in all 50 states and in 50 countries worldwide.

Gideon Felton '96

Dr. Felton is a psychiatrist working with older adults at Park Royal Centre for Mental Health. After graduating from St. George's University in 1995, he transferred into the United Kingdom system via the UEB route in 1998. He completed a year of postgraduate training at United Medical and Dental Schools of Guy's and St. Thomas' Hospitals in London and was accepted into the Royal College of Psychiatrists in 2005. Dr. Felton completed higher specialist registrar training in general adult psychiatry and substance misuse psychiatry in 2011. His academic interests include prison psychiatry and substance misuse psychiatry. In April 2011, he published Fast Revision for the CASC Exam, a guidebook for passing the CASC exam, which is necessary for all those seeking higher specialist training in psychiatry and has a very low pass rate. Dr. Felton is also trained in EMDR, a psychological treatment for post-traumatic stress disorder. He is involved heavily with Old Millhillians Rugby Football Club. Dr. Felton and his wife, Selma, live in Middlesex with their two children, Hannah and Harris.

Jose Sanchez-Crespo '09

Dr. Sanchez-Crespo is a general practitioner and aesthetic doctor in his private consultation practice in London as well as at The Medical and Surgical Centre and the Urgent Care Center at Chelsea and Westminster Hospital. He completed specialist training as a general practitioner in urology in the United Kingdom after having completed his two foundation years doing general medicine, acute medicine, general surgery, orthopaedic surgery, and accidents and emergency medicine. He has been published on various topics, mainly urology and gynecology, and has presented posters and podium presentations at the Royal Society of Medicine and at several international conferences. In the last four years, Dr. Sanchez-Crespo has made numerous trips to India, working with a group of doctors and surgeons who provide free surgical care to the less advantaged. Before entering St. George's University at the age of 38, Dr. Sanchez-Crespo earned his law degree in Spain and worked in corporate finance with one of the leading Spanish law firms before emigrating to England. While in England, he worked for a Spanish law firm and then earned an MBA and became an Associate of the London Institute of Risk Management. After a successful international business career, in which he became fluent in five languages and was published extensively, he decided to follow his longstanding dream of becoming a doctor.
